Democratic Convention.

Pursuant to the instructions of the Democratic State Central Committee, a mass meeting of the Democrats of Crittenden county is hereby called to meet in Marion on Saturday, May 14, 1892, at 2 o'clock, p. m., for the purpose of appointing delegates to the State convention to be held in Louisville, May 24, for the purpose of selecting delegates to represent the Democrats of Kentucky in the National Democratic Convention at Chicago in June.

J. W. Blue, Ch'mn.

There are no pigmies in the Congressional race in this district.

Oregon elects a State legislature in June. It is a Republican State.

We speak for no candidate when we say that the nominee for Congress in this district should be selected by a primary election.

Rhode Island remains wedded to her Republican idols. The republican candidate for Governor got a majority of 186 over all opposition.

The State Board of equalization raised the assessments of Jefferson county and the city of Louisville $8,000,000. There is a vigorous kick.

The United States Senate passed a bill appropriating $100,000 to defray the expenses of the Grand Army of the Republic encampment at Washington. Of course such extravagant measures will never pass the House.

Crab Orchard Springs has been sold to a syndicate which will turn this valuable property into an institution for the cure of drunkenness. Coming to Kentucky to get cured of the drink habit will be something of a paradox.

A delegation from Union county went to Frankfort to learn the why and wherefore of the increase of 10 per cent in the assessed value of property in that county. Wherever there was an increase made by the Board of Equalization there is a howl, and wherever there was a decrease there is a smile. We are smiling over hers.

The Louisville Critic jumps on to Senator Carlisle with both feet for accepting a fee in the lottery case. It is rather a doubtful question as to whether a Senator or Representative ought to engage in any private business while Congress is in session. They receive handsome salaries from the people for their time and talent, what right have they to sell to it others? They all do it, however.

Cleveland's letter, which we publish, is full of so good sense, and especially of that moderation that should be exercised by party in selecting a nominee. The partisanship that moves men in the contest at polls, should not enter into the contest for a party nomination. We go wild for our favorites in the general elections because no matter who the man may be, he represents our ideas of government, but in making the nomination the different favorites represent the same idea in the direction of governmental affairs.

Kentucky is to be fairly represented at the World's Fair. There is no parsimony in the $100,000 appropriation, neither is there any extravagance. Now let the money be appropriately spent, and it will be returned with interest. One thing should be remembered, and that is the appropriation was not made for the purpose of giving a lot of employees and appointees an opportunity to have a gay time. It is business and not junketing we want; it's work and not frolicking we want. It is a display of the State's material interests we want, not a display of the State's liberality in paying its employees. The appropriation was not made to give a few men and women light and remunerative employment.

The Outlook.

The outlook for the development of Crittenden county is at present very encouraging, and unless all signs fail it will not be many years before the county is marching side by side with the foremost counties of the State. The farmers of the county have caught the spirit of improvement and their handiwork is displayed in the improved breeds of horses, cattle and hogs. They are looking for the best horses, and the handsome, serviceable mules and this grade is gradually displacing the scrubs, plugs and runts. The cattle are gradually being improved into the better strains of blood; the old "razor-back," "sang-digger" hog is flying from the pure blooded Berkshire, Poland-China, and Duroc Jersey breeds, and soon he will cease to leap the fence, break down the gate or fly like a roebuck along the forest path. In the stock line is not found all of the genius of our progressive farmer, he has to day a higher respect for the soil, and is more disposed to give it humane consideration than ever before; he has learned to reward it for its liberality in increasing the grain, its care and to feed it after the impoverishing work of producing a crop, and the result is more bushels of grain is garnered from the acre than ever before, and the soil is growing stronger and healthier. These are improvements that it does not require the keen observer to discover. While the agricultural interests are thus gathering a more rosy hue, our minerals hid away in the beds of their birth, are causing a commotion among men. The earth is being tapped at some places, while in a quiet way, mineral leases are being slowly, but none the less surely, matured for the final construction of the P. M. & O. R. railroad. Viewing all these things the man whose heart yearns to see Crittenden take her place where her natural resources demand, need not grow weary in the yearning. In the meantime let us remember that the World's Fair is coming on, the State has made a handsome appropriation to give us an opportunity to advertise what we have, what we are and what we may be.

JOHN K. HENDRICKS.

[From Louisville Critic.]

The following hearty compliment from the Bardwell Star, does honor to a gentleman to whom every Kentucky Democrat should lift his hat: "John K. Hendrick, of Smithland, is again spoken of as a candidate for Congress. If he decides to go into the fight the Democrats will be called upon to stand by one of their most able and gifted sons. In him there is a combination rarely found. No one can question his ability, his honor, his integrity or his motives. (Honest as a child, who knows no sin, unassuming as men ever get, gentle, tender-hearted and affectionate as a woman, yet brave, perfectly fearless, resolute and uncompromising when principle is at stake, with all this he has as bright an intellect and large store of knowledge as any man, young or old, in the district.") If John K. Hendrick does not enter the race for Congress in the First District, and there is every reason to believe that he will, the contest for the Democratic nomination will be a most vigorous and exciting one. He has a wide acquaintance in the district. His ability as a lawyer, his integrity as a man, and his devotion to his party insure for him the confidence and respect of every Democrat. Wherever duty has called he has gone, eager for the fray, and regardless of personal consequences. He has never been a laggard. His mental, physical, and moral equipment make him by nature a leader, and he has always filled a place in the front rank. His voice has been ever lifted in behalf of Democracy, and when an official trust has been committed to his care he has reflected infinite credit upon his party.

The Critic has watched the public career of John K. Hendrick with increasing interest and admiration. In the State Senate his name was a synonym for all that was honest and efficient. He left the impress of his sound views upon the statute books. When Rowan county was overrun with a horde of murderers and law breakers it was Senator Hendrick who offered the resolution to investigate Judge Cole, and it was largely due to his personal efforts that order came out of chaos in that benighted region. It was Senator Hendrick who originated and offered the resolution of inquiry that smothered "Dick" Tate out of the Treasurer's office, and caused his sensational flight and exposure. The newspapers gave Governor Buckner credit for it, but the Critic has personal knowledge of the fact that Hendrick's desire to see the law enforced caused Tate's record to see the light. Upon every question affecting railroads and corporations Senator Hendrick stood immovable as a friend of the people, and no argument, threat or promise could move him. He protected the rights of the citizen without artifice or demagoguery. He waged relentless war on the lottery stool during his term in the Senate, and made every effort to sever the tentacles of the vampire. The Critic has not the space to enumerate the services of Mr. Hendrick while a lawmaker. He was confessedly the strongest intellect in the Senate, and as a member of the Judiciary Committee he proved how thorough and lucid was his knowledge of the law. If the Democrats of the First district do send him to Congress, he will stand shoulder to shoulder with the best men in that body. He will be a representative to be proud of. He has earned the right to be rewarded. Let the Democrats of the First district do their duty by John K. Hendrick.

Panorama From Gettysburg.

Washington, D. C., April 8, 1892.—This afternoon as I passed a large circular building on which I had several times noticed "THE BATTLE OF GETTYSBURG," I saw the sign "Open" at the door, and sauntered in. I've contracted a habit of falling in to everything open—especially if it is free. But "tickets here! 50 cents," and I paid it and went through a long dark passage and up a dark, winding stair case. On reaching the top of the stair, I seemed transported to the real field of Gettysburg! Before me was "Round Top" as real as life; dead and dying soldiers, pickets charge; the rushing artillery; the exploding of shells; disabled cannon; wounded soldiers on stretchers; the surgeon's table and surrounding a well of water; the seminary; two houses, riddled with cannon ball; a group of frightened children; officers and staffs—all forming a great and realistic view of one of the most remarkable battles of modern times. After giving for one half hour my imagination full play, I tried to get "behind the curtains" as it were; to undecieve myself; to see the art; to abolish the real and see the picture; but I utterly failed. I saw not the canvas; but the hills, the shattered trees, the wheatfield, the blood and carnage of a great battle.

People from other districts who want their children educated, have a good opportunity to purchase property here now at low rates, and have the advantages of a graded school in the near future. Come while you can get bargains.

There was an additional school tax voted on this district last Saturday by a majority of five votes and one of the voters moved down into Crittenden on Monday. People who have nothing to pay taxes on have no moral right to vote a tax on any body else. No one need expect to enter the kingdom of Heaven unless they do unto others as they would have others to do unto them.

The Cumberland Presbyterian church house built at Good Spring a few years ago on ground once claimed by the Methodists has been rolled on ground procured of W. B. The reception given by the young ladies of the Legationism Society at the seminary last Friday night was well attended by the young people of this and Bethlehem neighborhoods. There were not any of "the Mayfield boys" in attendance but those who attended and remained to the close of the exercises report a most splendid time.

Friday is the day to "garden" by your needs, warranted to be at class and low price, of Jacobs & Deboe, Fredonia, Ky.

Jacobs & Deboe have the largest and most complete stock of linens ever brought to the town and are selling it at prices to suit everybody who needs anything in that line.

S. R. Cassidy will sell you anything he has in stock for less money than the same grade of goods can be bought for anywhere else in this part of the State.

Jacobs & Deboe will sell you canned goods for less money than they have ever been sold here. The peach crop is said to be badly damaged and now is your time to lay in a supply already canned.

If in need of wearing apparel of any kind, handkerchiefs, ribbons, braids, lace, etc., you can save money by seeing S. R. Cassidy's stock and getting his prices.

Jacobs & Deboe bought a large lot of sugars before Speerles sold out to the sugar trust and you can save money if you buy of them.

We have some things "picked up," at the Moses Meyer assignment sale, that we sell at 50% below value, among which is some fine imported dress goods worth $1 to $1.50 per yard; our price 60c to 75c per yard. Men's white re-enforced unlaundried shirts, extra good, 35c each. Feather stitch braid 2 bunches for 15c. Don't fail to see this stock of goods and get our prices. We always sell the best goods for the least money. If our lady customers will come about the middle of the week, we will have more time, and can show them a great many things they could not get to see in a Saturday rush. Our success has far surpassed our most sanguine expectations. We delight in selling nice goods, and as our business warrants it. We have a stock not to be "grinned at." Thanking our many friends for what they have done for us. We hope to meet you all in our store at an early date. Most respectfully, Sam Howerton, Kelsey, Ky.

If you need anything in the dry goods or nation line, you can find what you want and can buy at prices to suit the times, of S. R. Cassidy, Kelsey, Ky.

Ladies wishing to purchase dress goods, new and first class, can find a complete stock to select from, at S. R. Cassidy's, Kelsey, Ky.

Don't fail to see S. R. Cassidy's stock of goods before purchasing elsewhere; he will sell you "new goods" and at reasonable rates.

Buy the latest revised political and geographical map, size 5 1/2 x 3 1/2 feet. This is a double map; one side a political encyclopedia from Columbus to Harrison, other side map of United States from origin up to 1892, for sale by W. C. Glenn, Fredonia, Ky.

Everything new in dry goods everything new in laces, trimmings, etc., etc; call and get prices. Sam Howerton.

An excellent stock of clothing that we guarantee to sell lower than any competitor, or money refunded. Sam Howerton.

The prospect is flattering for a peach crop, and wheat and clover is looking fine for the time of year. Some of the farmers are not through delivering their tobacco. The best stock of shoes in Caldwell county. Sam Howerton.

$10,000.00. Stock; Sam Howerton, Kelsey, Ky. All the young men that want to dress stylish should buy their suits of S. R. Cassidy, Kelsey, Ky.

Mr. Cleveland Writes. Lakewood, N. J., April 8, 1892.—To James H. Bible, Chattanooga, Tenn.—My Dear Sir: I desire to thank you for the report of the meeting at Chattanooga, which you so kindly sent me, and for the friendly words you spoke of me on that occasion. I am exceedingly anxious to have our party do exactly the right thing at the Chicago Convention. I hope that the delegates will be guided by judgement and actuated by true Democratic spirit and the single desire to succeed on principle.

I should not be frank if I did not say to you that I often fear that I do not deserve all the kind things such friends as you say of me, and I have frequent misgivings as to the wisdom of putting me in nomination. I therefore am anxious that sentiment and too unmeasured personal devotion should be checked when the delegates to the convention reach the period of deliberation. In any event there will be no disappointment for me in the result. Yours very truly, GROVER CLEVELAND.

What Incense is Made Of.

The incense ordered for the service of the Tabernacle, to be burned in a censer and on the altar, consisted of stacte, onycha, galbanum and frankincense in equal parts. Stacte, which is the Greek translation of the Hebrew word nataph, signifies a liquid exudation, or something fluid. Pliny describes it as the natural exudation of the myrrh tree, flowing without the tree being punctured, and more esteemed than the myrrh itself. Theophrastus also mentions two sorts of myrrh—one liquid and one solid.

Onycha is the Hebrew Schecheleth, "odoriferous shell." It is the operculum of a species of stroubus, formerly well known in Europe under the name of blatta byzantina, found in the Mediterranean and in the Red sea, from which the Israelites no doubt procured it. It is occasionally to be seen at the custom house in Bombay, where it is imported to burn with incense in the temples, not so much on account of any pleasing odor of its own as to bring out the odor of other perfumes. It is a white, transparent shell, resembling in shape the human finger nail; hence its Greek name onyx, a finger nail. It is generally believed that the fish inhabiting the shell acquires its peculiar odor by feeding on a species of Indian hard.

The word galbanum signifies something unctuous, and evidently applies to a balsam. According to some authorities it is a fine sort of galbanum found on Mount Amomus, in Syria, differing entirely from the ordinary galbanum now used in medicine, of which the odor is anything but sweet. But the fashions of this world change, and in its way, in our day, find no sweetness in galbanum, saffron and spikenard, it is no reason why the ancients did not, and no reason why orientals should not, even now.—Knowledge.

Bonnets in French Theaters.

Next to parliament, the opening of the theatrical season is of great interest to the Parisians. M. Francisque Sarcey, the eminent critic, takes advantage of it to get up a campaign against ladies' bonnets at the play. "The other night," he says, "there was a lady in the stalls of the Odeon whose bonnet was a veritable scandal. It was, in fact, less a bonnet than a vast parasol, trimmed with all kinds of birds. It upset the whole house. I myself was particularly annoyed by it. The lady sat in front of me and cut me off entirely from the stage. In vain I bobbed my glass right and left to catch a glimpse of the actors; every time I moved she moved. At length I gave up the task in despair and left my seat."

M. Sarcey says the ladies, if they have any feelings for their lords and masters, could remedy the evil without any trouble or loss to themselves. He proposes they should adopt a coiffure especially for the theater. He thinks that a fashion might be made as elegant and becoming as a bonnet. In Germany the ladies either leave their bonnets in the cloakroom or keep them on their knees, as the gentlemen do their hats. Why should not the same system be carried out in France? In any case he insists on a reform of some sort, and appeals to the fair spectators to consider the question. It is feared that they will not consent to the sacrifice.—Cor. London Globe.

Meat Eating Plants.

Notwithstanding the admitted fact that bits of meat, insects and other animal substances are more quickly decomposed in the leaves and other trap-like appendages of the pitcher plant, Venus flytrap, sundew and various others of the so called "insect eating plants" than they are in open air, there is a body of scientists who deny that the plant itself has anything to do with the matter. These same scientists, who have frequently given their views to the world, deny the old supposition that the plants of the insect eating kind even exercise vital power in capturing the prey which falls into their nets. The learned Dr. Morsetdt, whose curious researches have frequently been brought to the notice of readers is one of these skeptics. He says that the effect produced upon insects by these plants is a chemical change similar to that produced upon the skin and flesh of one who has come in contact with any poisonous plant or vine.—St. Louis Republic.

The Noise of the Bee.

The three fold voice organs of the bee are the vibrating wings, the vibrating rings of the abdomen and a true vocal apparatus in the breathing aperture or spiracle. The buzz is produced by the first two, and the hum, which may be "surly, cheerful or colloquial" significant by the vocal membrane. A number of the bee's notes have been interpreted. "Hum" is the cry of contentment; "wuh-nuh-nuh" glorifies the egg laying of the queen; "shu-u-u" is the note of the young bees at play; "s-s-s-s" means the muster of a swarm; "b-r-r-r" the danger or expulsion of the drones, and the "ta-ta-ta" of the newly hatched young queen is answered by the "qua-qua-qua" of the queens still imprisoned in their cells.—New York Telegram.

Mother Satiated.

Mother—I'd just like to know who this young man is you have engaged yourself to. Daughter—Oh, he comes of splendid family. "Does his family object to the match?" "Yes." "Then I guess he's all right."—New York Weekly.

Mr. Robert Boyd, of Salem, was in Marion Monday. He is a candidate for circuit court clerk of Livingston county, and is eminently qualified to fill the office, and is an excellent gentleman in all particulars.

Judge Jas. Campbell, McCracken county's candidate for Congress, addressed a large crowd at the court house Monday. He made a magnificent speech, and on every hand it was highly complimented by those who heard it. The Judge is solid for free coinage of silver. He is a pleasant as well as a forcible speaker.

Messrs. O. M. James and E. C. Flannery, two of our coming young attorneys, attended Squire Stevens' court Saturday; one to prosecute Richard Williams and defend Boyd Lynn, and the other to prosecute Boyd Lynn and defend Williams for charged infractions of the dignity and peace of the commonwealth—the county attorney having to attend court at Marion. The attorneys made great fights, and ringing speeches, and both of the accused were acquitted.

Pierce, Yandell, Gugenheim Co., moved into their new quarters last week, and have a magnificent stock of goods now on display. The second floor is devoted exclusively to clothing and hats, while the first floor has dry goods and shoes in great profusion. The firm has a word to our readers on the first page this week.

The enterprising lively stable proprietor, W D Wallingford has found it necessary, in order to meet the demands of his growing business, to erect a new building, and the large and handsome stable on Bellville street, is the result. Mr Wallingford is a fine lively man, always ready with an affable smile to meet the requirements of a public.

The board of town trustees and the local board of health held a joint meeting yesterday afternoon to discuss the sanitary condition of the town. These officials will serve notice on the citizens through the city marshal, directing a thorough cleaning up of all premises. Extreme measures will be resorted to, if necessary, to put the town in apple-pie order. Every good citizen should heartily commend this work and join in with these officials in their efforts to make the town as near impervious to the diseases that arise from a neglect to observe the laws of cleanliness as is possible. Marion is probably as clean as any town in the State, but she is by means in that happy condition described as next to godliness.

Wedded.

Rev. T. C. Carter and Miss Ella Boston were united in marriage at the residence of Mr. J. B. Carter, of this county, at 1 p. m. Wednesday, April 13; Rev. J. S. Henry officiating. After the ceremony an elegant dinner was served. Quite a number of the many friends of the bride and groom were present to witness the consummation of the happy event and to extend sincere congratulations. The bride is a most estimable young lady, possessing the many virtues that go to make the best of wives and adorn happy homes. The groom is a well-known and popular Baptist minister—one of the ablest and most successful in the Ohio River association.

Mr. W. A. Letsinger and Miss Cora Williams were united in marriage at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. H. B. Williams, of this county, Wednesday evening April 12th at 5 p. m. Miss Williams, now Mrs. Letsinger, is a beautiful, refined and amiable young lady, the daughter of one of our best farmers. The groom came from Benton, Tenn., to this place some months ago, but is now engaged in the jewelry business at Eddyville. Many friends extend congratulations.

J. B. McKinley Sues the Ohio Valley Railroad For $20,000 Damages.

Mr. J. B. McKinley, who was seriously injured by the premature explosion of a dynamite blast at the Ohio Valley railroad rock quarry some months ago, has filed suit in the Crittenden Circuit Court against the railroad company for $20,000 damages. The plaintiff in his petition says that he was employed by the company at the quarry, "at which place the defendant used a dangerous explosive, known as dynamite, for the purpose of blasting said rock or stone, and the danger and necessary care and caution in the use of said explosives not being then known to the plaintiff, and the defendant wrongfully and negligently failed to apprise and acquaint him, the plaintiff, with the danger attendant upon the use of same, and he says that the defendant had employed a foreman or superintendent at said quarry, who was either not skilled in the use or management of said explosive and business, or was reckless in reference thereto, and the defendant negligently failed to provide the proper tools and implements, and to keep them in proper repair for the safe and proper use of said explosive and business, all of which facts were unknown to the plaintiff at the time, and he says that while he, the plaintiff, was so engaged and employed in obeying the orders of the defendant, and without any fault or carelessness on his part, a piece of said dynamite was prematurely exploded by reason of the willful and gross neglect of the defendant and its agents, charged with the superintendence of said work, in not making such preparations and using such precautions as were necessary and proper for the safety and security of him, the plaintiff, and other like employees in and about said works, that by reason of the willful and gross neglect of the defendant, the plaintiff lost his eye-sight, some of his bones were broken, his flesh lacerated and was otherwise maimed and injured, and ruined for life to his damage in the sum of twenty thousand dollars."

Democratic Committee Meet.

Monday the Democratic County Committee held a meeting in Marion. About twenty members were present. Mr. J. W. Blue tendered his resignation as chairman, and the same was accepted. Mr. P. S. Maxwell was nominated for the vacant chairmanship, and received the unanimous vote of the committee. Mr. Maxwell was notified of his election and appeared before the committee. He said that he preferred not to serve as there were other men more suitable for the place, but if the members of the committee, as representatives of the Democratic party, insisted, he desired to say that he had never yet failed to respond to the call of his party, and that he would accept the position, thanking the committee for the honor, and do his best for the party as its chairman. Mr. W. H. Asher tendered his resignation as a member of the committee, stating that he had grown old in the service, and in as much as the weight of years curtailed his activity, he hoped his resignation would be accepted. The resignation was accepted and Mr. J. D. Asher was chosen to fill the vacancy.

The committee adjourned to meet on the second Monday in May.

Mr. A. C. Moore was called to Salem Saturday to represent Geo. Corn in a case involving three dogs. There was a dispute as to whether the dogs—three hounds valued at $61—belonged to Corn or Belt. The court decided that the canines belonged to Corn.

Last week the Press suggested that a price be placed on plain drunks in Marion. Our officers have undertaken to carry out the suggestion, and the police court has had some business; and Uncle Joe, the jailor, has been turning the jail key more frequently. We heartily commend the officers in their attempt to break up drunkenness on the streets. There is a law against it, and the people will approve of its enforcement.

Messrs. A. J. Pickens and Jack Baker reached home from the Indian Territory Thursday. They were exceedingly well pleased with the country in so far as the climate and soil is concerned, but the unsettled condition of social and business affairs had no prepossessing aspect for them, and they came home without making any investments.

Saturday Judge W. W. Robertson addressed the people at the court-house. He made a solid democratic speech; covering all the points involved in the great political questions of the day. He is frank and concise. He speaks at Tolu Thursday, Salem, Friday, and Dycusburg Saturday. We bespeak for him a good crowd at each place.

PUSHING AHEAD.

Messrs. Brown and Ward Have Faith in Their Mining Enterprise.

Some weeks ago the Press stated that operations had been temporarily suspended at the Tabb lead mines on account of a superabundance of water. Since that time the men who represent the capital that is being invested have visited the mines and made a thorough investigation of the prospects. They also visited a number of the big lead mines in Missouri, inspecting the machinery as well as the output of the mines. After thus looking over the field, they have decided to push the work at the Tabb mines on a more stupendous scale, and have accordingly purchased a considerable quantity of new and improved machinery, and are now arranging for putting it in. Additional boilers, larger pumps and hoisters and a crushing machine are among the improvements to be made. All the work is being done in substantial way, and the indications are that this company, gratified with the work and prospects so far, has come to stay.

County Court.

The following claims were allowed: Courier-Journal company for Record books $23.50.

R. F. Dorr, pauper coffin, $4.00. Oscar Lucas and D. West appointed to view and report upon change in public road prepared by C. M. Mayes.

Owen Boaz was appointed committee for Jasper N. Road, with G. L. Boaz, A. S. Hord and S. J. Koon as sureties.

Bailey George, J. B. Stephenson and Jouth Stone appointed to view and report upon change in road proposed by W. F. Harmon.

C. A. Deboe allowed $2 for services in trying to arrest Horace Walker.

The case of A. L. Charles vs. W. S. Graves, asking for a reduction of ferry rates across Cumberland river at Dycusburg, was continued.

G. S. Brooks and Chas. Humphrey were appointed road overseers.

Friday Sheriff Cruce received the tax books for 1892, and there was a short rush to get the first receipt from him for tax. Mr. W. H. Asher carried home the first one, and then came W. D. Gilliland, R. A. McDaniel, J. F. Loyd, A. L. McConnell, E. J. McConnell, W. L. White, F. A. Jacobs, W. S. Perkins, Jno. A. Lewis, Jas. Wright, Milton Wright, Jno. D. Hodge, Hugh Brown.

The affable deputy-sheriff, Jeff Asher, is as compassionate and as tender at heart as his handsome face indicates. While on an official trip near Ford's Ferry recently, he was passing a pond, when his attention was attracted by what he thought to be a calf in distress. Supposing that it had fallen in the water and become entangled in the undergrowth, Jeff dismounted and went to its assistance; while in search of the distressed animal around the brink of the water, a man came up and was informed of the situation. The doleful sound which had moved Jeff to tears was music to the second party's ear, and when he informed our officer that it was but the evening song of the bull frog, Jeff put spurs to his horse, and never would have mentioned it.

ATTENTION G. A. R.

Get ready for the Normal.

We are expecting a good Normal at the Marion Academy this summer. Most of the pupils in the Academy will attend and a number who are not in attendance at the Academy will be enrolled. The Normal will begin about the first of June.

Five dollars and cost is the price of a plain drunk in Marion. This is very cheap, but it is to be hoped that there will be few purchasers. Now that the price has been fixed let everybody, rich and poor, high and low be treated alike. Nothing but cash will be taken.

The town board of trustees have declared certain old stables in town nuisances. There are something like a hundred or more shabby, measly old stables in town that are scabs upon the body corporate, and could be dispensed with, without taking from the material interests of the place.

KENTUCKY WILL EXHIBIT.

The Legislature Passes the $100,000 Appropriation.

Frankfort, Ky., April 7.—To-day a vote of the World's Fair appropriation bill was reached in the House, and the bill passed by a vote of 56 to 35. When the result was announced there was a storm of applause. Among those voting against the bill were Messrs. J. R. Summers, of Livingston; Glenn, of Lyon; Nichols, of Caldwell and Sims, of Trigg.

The House made two amendments to the original bill as passed by the Senate; these amendments prohibit the sale of liquor in the Kentucky department at Chicago, and provide that the exhibit shall be closed on Sunday. The bill provides that the Governor shall appoint five commissioners within thirty days after its passage; the duty of these commissioners is to collect, transport, receive and place the article for the Kentucky exhibit. The pay of these commissioners is limited to $600 each for the year 1892, and $1200 each for 1893. This board is directed to appoint an executive committee and "they" shall discharge such duties touching the products of female labor, and in assisting female exhibitors, and in facilitating the woman's department, as the commissioners may prescribe or direct. The ladies are to be paid $5 per day for their services, and traveling expenses. The commissioners are required to file with the governor a detailed account of all money spent.

AFTER PALACEO.

Venezuela's President in Constant Fear of Assassination.

Caracas, April 6.—It is no longer a secret that Venezuela's Chief Magistrate is in constant fear of assassination. The guard around the Yellow House, or Casa Amarilla, has been redoubled. Every possible precaution has been taken to protect the President's life, but the throwing of the dynamite bomb the other day frightened the Government so much that it has not yet recovered its equanimity.

Not only has the Administration to fear its enemies in the field; in this city the revolutionists have made considerable headway. Their emissaries have successfully invaded the ranks of the police force of Caracas, upon whose loyalty the Administration has so stoutly relied, and it is said that many of the police have deserted and gone over to the insurgents.

Rumors of plots are heard on every side. No one would be surprised to hear that President Palacio had been assassinated. He spends most of his time in his mansion conferring with his Cabinet. The friends of the Supreme Court Judges, the Federal Councilors, have been imprisoned by orders, are very indignant at what they characterize as dictatorial and tyrannical measures. Palacio's high-handed methods, instead of subduing, have increased the bitter feeling entertained against him.

Gen. Crespo, the leader of the insurgents continues in the meantime to receive adherents to his ranks from all parts of the Republic. Among his forces are many of the best fighting material of the country. With even numbers, any conflict between his men and the Government forces would, to a certainty, result in a triumph for the former.

Reports from the different

States indicate the rapid growth of the insurrection. Barquisimeto, Coro, Los Andes and Zulia have declared themselves. Other States, it is believed, will follow their example. Barquisimeto has a population of over 150,000. Its capital, of the same name, has a population of 30,000 and is 165 miles southwest of Caracas. Coro is the capital of the State of Falcon, has a population of 10,000, and is near the sea, affording the revolutionists a good place to land their ammunition. Los Andes has a population of 325,000 and Zulia has 60,000 inhabitants. Maracaibo is the capital of the latter State. The hills adjacent to Caracobo are occupied by the followers of Crespo.

Caracas contains a number of armed revolutionists, awaiting an opportunity to come out boldly against the Government. The authorities have been reduced to their last extremity and are collecting customs duties on sixty-day drafts. The outlook is certainly very dark. Palacio seems to be losing ground every day and Crespo's forces grow stronger and stronger.

There is no concealment of the fact that the Government is very much alarmed at the prospect.

Reports from the headquarters of the insurgents are to the effect that greatest activity prevails there and that the indications are that a move is to be made at an early date in the direction of Caracas.

King's Daughters Convention.

The King's Daughters of this county are affectionately invited to attend a State convention of Kings Daughters, to be held in Louisville, Ky., April 24, 25, 26. Mrs. Mary Lowe Dickison and Mrs. T. C. Davis, of the Central Council will arrive Saturday, 23d, and will address the convention on matters of interest to Kings Daughters everywhere.

They will be prepared to meet personally members of the circles and to suggest plans of work for their localities, if delegates so desire. The initial meeting of the series will occur on Sunday afternoon in one of the churches. A reception will be given Mrs. Dickinson and Mrs. Davis by the Kings Daughters of Louisville, to which all delegates will be welcome. All who intend to take advantage of this opportunity and all our ladies are invited whether they are Kings Daughters or not, are requested to communicate with Miss Lucy Richardson, 1026 Fifth street, Louisville.

The Louisville Kings Daughters who are arranging for this convention hope to have a large delegation from the State.

A Drouth Brings Ruin.

Corpus Christi, Tex., April 7.—According to reports received from points on the line of the Mexican National road, the cattle business is in a deplorable condition. Bones of hundreds of animals which have died recently are being put in huge piles at every station and stock are dying of starvation. Crops in most places are places are lost for the year.

On the Argua Dulce river stockmen are feeding their cattle on moss to save them until rain comes to make grass. The drouth, is the worst known for years, and unless rain comes soon the damage will be beyond estimation.

TARIFF REFORMED.

The Bill Moving the Wool Tax Passes the House.

Washington, April 7.—The Springer free wool bill passed the House to-day, all the Democrats but one and all the Alliance members but one voting for it. There were 194 yeas and 60 nays. Babbitt, a Democrat from Wisconsin, and Otis, an Alliance man from Kansas, were the only nays among the Democrats and Alliance members. This is the first of the numerous tariff reform measures the Democrats propose to pass during this session of congress. Wilson, of West Virginia, closed the debate on the Democratic side and his speech is considered one of the best ever made in House on this subject. He closed his able argument in these words:

"There is great exaggeration here and everywhere as to the character of foreign labor. I read a few days ago a statement made by Mr. Butterworth, of Ohio, that he diligently looked for this pauper labor of Europe wherever he was in Europe last summer. In Germany, in Belgium, in Holland, he looked for it and did not find it. If he had looked for it in the fields of the planters, if he had looked for it in the fields of the farmers, if he had looked for it in the fields of wheat-growers, he would have found that pauper labor."

"Gentlemen, compare the condition of the people of England with the condition of the people of this country; a country that, until a few years ago, almost in the days of our fathers, was hidden from the knowledge of the people of these older worlds. Here, while they were exhausting their fields, the mold in our agricultural valleys was deepening. Here, while they were exhausting their mines, ours were lying undisturbed in the mountains. Here, while they were exhausting their forests, not the sound of an axe broke the silence of the woods. And now, when there is lot to this country but a handful of people, so to speak, the most intelligent, the most enterprising, the best educated people of the world, a people that have brought with them to this country all the knowledge, all the science, all the inventions, all the tools, all the capacity for self-government, and all the blessed influences of the Christian religion, when they are let loose in this great country, extending from sea to sea, rich, untouched, unexplored, unexplored, you come here and elsewhere and say that we owe our greater prosperity, our better opportunities for usefulness, our higher wages, our better conditions in every respect, not to the bounty of Almighty God in giving us such a country, not to the wisdom and sacrifice of the fathers in giving us free institutions and equal laws, not to the enterprise and intelligence of our own people, but to a poor, little, two-by-six law of Congress made by yourselves in the way I have indicated."

What Is Christianity.

An aggregate of virtues does not and cannot constitute Christianity or any other religion, no more than an aggregate of virtues constitute a man, or an aggregate of different forces constitutes a locomotive, or an aggregate of brick, wood and mortar constitutes a house. Virtue is a force or a force of doing a thing with ease, arising from the doing of that thing many times, as to acquire a habit of doing it. Kindness, candor, truthfulness and the other moral virtues are habits of mind growing out of a frequent repetition of acts of kindness, candor, truthfulness. A truthful man is one who has acquired the habit of telling the truth and can do it without effort, so that even when speaking against Christianity he can tell it without danger of wounding a muscle, fracturing a bone or rupturing an artery. We may then define virtue as a habit of mind inclining a man and making it easy for him to do good and act rightly. You can now see how these "habits of mind" may constitute a man good and religious, while they cannot constitute him a man, and why, taken altogether, they cannot constitute a religion or Christianity. Christianity teaches us all these virtues and exhorts us to practice them.

Wholesale Lynching.

Alexander, La., April 6.—News has reached here that Patrick Kelly, aged fifty-five, a peddler, was killed on Sunday last on Little river, near Fishville, by a gang of eight negroes. Four of them were caught and lynched and officers are in pursuit of the rest of the gang. The killing was for the purpose of getting his money. His headquarters were at this place.

Wonders of the Trance State.

Prof. William James, a well known Harvard instructor, in speaking of the trance condition and trances in general, says: "I know a woman who in her trances knows facts that altogether transcend her possible normal consciousness—facts about the lives of people whom she never saw or heard of before. I make this statement deliberately, knowing the liabilities to which it exposes me. My own impressions are that the trance condition is an immensely complex and fluctuating thing, into the understanding of which we have hardly begun to penetrate, and concerning which any very sweeping generalizations are sure to be premature."—St. Louis Republic.

Droff of Reason.

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 7.—Capt. Chris Rath, who hanged Mrs. Surratt and the other Lincoln conspirators in Washington, was suddenly bereft of reason yesterday on the run to Jackson with the mail train.

He has been mail agent for twenty years between here and Jackson, and made the latter place his headquarters. Last night it was noticed that he did not throw the mail off, and an investigation found him in the car, surrounded by the bags, staring wildly at vacancy. He was Provost at Washington at the close of the war, and retained a vivid recollection of the hanging of the conspirators.

A Petrified Man.

Wiley Johnson, who was buried twenty years ago at Central City, was disinterred a few days since for the purpose of moving the body to another grave. The men who had the work in charge were surprised to find that the body had petrified completely. Every line of the body and every feature of the face was as natural as when he was buried, and the friends who knew him while living had no trouble in recognizing the body, which was placed in a casket and viewed by many persons.

Massachusetts Let Grover.

The Old Bay State Makes Known Its Position on the Tariff.

Boston, April 8.—The Democratic State Convention for the selection of four delegates to the National Convention, was in this city to-day.

Touching upon the tariff issue and the money question the platform says:

We reaffirm the Democratic doctrine that no more money shall be collected than is necessary for an economical administration of the Government; that the Government shall receive all taxes the people pay; that taxes should bear as evenly as possible upon all the people.

We earnestly approve the bill now under debate in the House of Representatives, which places wool upon the free list. Under its beneficent provisions the great boon of cheaper and better clothing will be given our people, and an increased demand for labor will follow, because of the larger market thus opened for our woolen manufacturers.

We heartily endorse the bills presented in Congress placing coal and iron ore upon the free list. The Democratic party thus seeks to revive a once prosperous Massachusetts industry now almost crushed out of existence by unjust taxation imposed by the Republican party.

We will welcome whenever it can be enacted a comprehensive bill making a general reduction in the duties imposed by the tariff bill of 1893 and by the yet more oppressive tariff legislation of 1890.

With these views we not only oppose the letter, but the spirit and intent, of the last Republican tariff act, which reduces the revenue, while it raises the taxes; we demand its repeal because its intention is to raise prices, to restrict commerce and to transfer the power of taxation from the Government to individuals and corporations; and in its place we demand that a genuine measure of the tariff reform shall be enacted.

We believe in the reduction of the tariff taxes to increase revenue, in protecting the daily living of the people instead of giving opportunity to a privileged class to acquire wealth. This is the clear issue between the two parties. There is no hope for tariff reform but in the success of the Democratic party.

We renew our declaration of principles with regard to the coinage of gold and silver adopted by our State convention of last year, upon which our party achieved victory.

We believe in honest money, the gold and silver coinage of the Constitution, and in a currency convertible into such coinage without loss. This Declaration, expressing the uniform historic policy of the national Democratic party contained in its platforms of 1854 and 1868, we unreservedly reaffirm.

We believe that all dollars coined by the United States should be of equal intrinsic value, and that all paper currency issued by the Government should be redeemable in either gold or silver coin, at the option of the holder, and not at the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury.

The following was adopted: While adhering to our time-honored custom, we do not specifically pledge our delegation, yet declare our conviction that the best interests of the party and of the country demand the nomination and election of Grover Cleveland as President, and we are confident that under his leadership the principles of Democracy will again win a glorious victory.

A WORE TO DIE.

Nine People Burned to Death At Fort Madison, Iowa.

Fort Madison, Ia., April 6.—Nine people were burned to death at 2524 Santa Fe avenue last night, where fire broke out in a two-story building while all the occupants were asleep. The upper story was used as a dwelling by the owner, and the lower occupied by the general store and meat market of McIntosh & Pease. The fire was discovered at 11:45 o'clock and an alarm given, and the fire department quickly responded. About two minutes after the fire was discovered a terrific explosion shook the building, and the flames burst out furiously.

It is supposed that some kegs of powder stored in the building exploded and destroyed the narrow stairs leading inside the building from the second story, and thus cutting out all hope of escape. The fire burned very rapidly. The nearest hydrant was four blocks distant, and before connection could be made the building was doomed. No cries were heard from those inside the building, and seven perished before help could reach them.
